

Extempore

Description:

- An extempore event is a type of public speaking or speech competition where participants are required to speak on a given topic without prior preparation or rehearsal. In an extempore event, speakers are usually given a topic on the spot. They are expected to deliver a coherent and persuasive speech on that topic within a specified time limit, often without the aid of notes or visual aids.

Plan of conduct:

- Timekeeping: 2 to 3 minutes will be given to speak and 1 minute of preparation/thinking time.
- Judging criteria:
 - a. Deduction of marks for breaks/stuttering.
 - b. Deduction of marks for exceeding or staying beyond the time limit.
 - c. Deduction of marks for going off-topic.
 - d. Bonus marks are based on content.
- Language: Performance will be allowed only in English.
- Procedure:
 - a. Participants will come on the stage and pick a chit from a container which contains multiple chits on multiple diverse topics
 - b. They will be given a minute for preparation, judges will notify the participant at an interval of 15sec.
 - c. After the performance the judge may cross question, and responses to questions may affect the marks awarded.
- Rules:
 - a. No visual aids will be allowed
 - b. Any attempt to cheat will lead to disqualification
 - c. Trying to persuade the judge will lead to disqualification